For The Record: Quick News On Lindsay Lohan, Coldplay, Irv Gotti, Mary J. Blige, Jamie Foxx, Disturbed & More
10.17.2005

Lohan names her album; jury selection begins in Gotti trial; Disturbed singer ordered to rest his voice.

Lindsay Lohan has picked a title for her upcoming second album, due November 22. Like the LP's first single, "Confessions of a Broken Heart," suggests, this album is going to be A Little More Personal. Her video for "Confessions" is slated to premiere on MTV's "Making the Video: Lindsay Lohan" on October 24 at 6 p.m. ET ...

David Reilly, a founding member of techno-rock outfit God Lives Underwater, died Sunday of complications stemming from longstanding stomach problems. Reilly was the band's vocalist and chief programmer; he also played guitar and synthesizer on God Lives Underwater's four LPs, the most recent being 2004's Up Off the Floor. Corporate Punishment Records, which released Reilly's solo album Inside that same year, said in a statement he'd recently inked a solo deal with Universal and was working on material for his second album. ... Guitarist Nick Hawkins, known for his work with Big Audio Dynamite, died of a heart attack on October 10 in his Las Vegas home. He was 40. Hawkins joined the band in 1990, and helped craft the group's two largest hits, "The Globe" and "Rush." He remained with B.A.D. through various lineup shifts and name permutations until 1997. He had been working with his band Dusk Till Dawn on material for a forthcoming album at the time of his death. ... A coroner has determined that former "Saturday Night Live" castmember Charles Rocket (born Charles Claverie), 56, committed suicide by slicing his own throat in a field near his home in Canterbury, Connecticut, on October 7. Rocket, who appeared in the TV show "Moonlighting" and the movies "Dumb and Dumber" and "Dances With Wolves," was most famous for dropping the f-bomb during a spoof of "Dallas" on "SNL" in the 1980-1981 season, when he uttered, "Who the f--- did it?" The profanity unleashed complaints from viewers and Rocket was fired. ...

Krist Novoselic cut the ribbon on Saturday to celebrate the opening of what amounts to a grunge hotel in downtown Seattle. Hotel Max features local artists and photographers' work on the guest doors, and of special note, the fifth floor is devoted to the icons of the Seattle grunge scene — with life-size shots of Nirvana, Pearl Jam and Courtney Love by Charles Peterson covering the room doors. The hotel has also published a book, called "Maximalism: Art at the Hotel Max, Seattle," showcasing the work featured in the hotel. ... Megadeth in a cartoon? The band will appear in two episodes of "Duck Dodgers," the space-age cartoon that features Daffy Duck, Porky Pig and Marvin the Martian, on October 28 and November 4 on Cartoon Network's Boomerang. ...

The Dillinger Escape Plan are packing their bags and heading out on the road to support their latest album, Miss Machine, starting November 16 in Seattle. The 18-date U.S. leg of the trek wraps December 10 in Baltimore. ... P.O.D. will warm up fans for the early 2006 release of Testify with the seven-song The Warriors EP Vol. 2, due November 15. The EP features demo versions of two new songs, "Teachers" and "Ya Mama," live versions of "Boom" and "Wildfire" (from 2004's Cornerstone Festival in Bushnell, Illinois) and the previously unreleased "If It Wasn't for You," "Why Wait?" and "Eyes of a Stranger." ...

LL Cool J, Fat Joe, Swizz Beatz, Chaka Khan, Ice-T and the Reverend Al Sharpton were among the celebs who came out Sunday night in New York to be in the presence of royalty. Queen of Hip-Hop Soul Mary J. Blige performed a career-retrospective concert at Lincoln Center's intimate Rose Hall, singing such tracks as "My Life" and "Family Affair" and debuting her new single, "Can't Hide From Love," to close out the set. ... Jamie Foxx is nearly finished with his forthcoming album, Unpredictable, due December 6. The first single will be the title track, featuring Ludacris, and it hits radio November 7. Other guests on the LP include Kanye West on "Extravaganza," Mary J. Blige on a remake of "Love Changes," Pharrell Williams on "Still Here" (which he also produced), Twista on "DJ Play a Love Song" and Timbaland on "Can I Take You Home." ...

Slipknot guitarist Jim Root isn't on the band's current road trip, Subliminal Verses Tour: The Final
